tured some of the animals that have contributed to the progress our herd has made in the breeding of modern Shorthorn cattle.

In our annual sale to be held at our farm on October 23, 1929, we are selling thirty females and eight or ten bulls. Almost all of the cattle offered were produced on our own farm and many of them have been prominent winners in our 1929 show herd.

None of our sale cattle are pictured herein. Our illustrated sale catalog will be sent to you on request.

A cordial invitation to attend this sale is extended to all Shorthorn breeders.
